2024 Investment and M&A Highlights

In December 2024, DDM published our 2024 Investment and M&A Highlights which reflected the current events that the games industry navigated throughout 2024. The full in-depth analyses and insights of the highlighted list below is provided on our website:

- ▶ Post-COVID normalcy mixed with macroeconomic headwinds brings record layoffs, closures, and divestitures
- ▶ Public gaming companies are now considering going private
- ▶ Embracer Group and its subsidiaries have a turbulent 2024 by reducing debt and finding stability
- ▶ While AI has replaced blockchain as the latest “shiny” technology, AI within the video game industry has not received the same amount of interest from investors and acquirers
- ▶ The next frontier for XR games funding may be mixed reality
- ▶ User-Generated Content (UGC) is attracting investment interest with prominent UGC game platform Roblox’s share price recovering from questions around its business practices
- ▶ Poland continues to lead the world in gaming companies going public although the market prices of such companies have been rocky in recent months
- ▶ The Indian video game market is fast-growing and Nazara Technologies is at the forefront
- ▶ Saudi Arabia has actively created partnerships with fewer game investments and M&As, but a “megadeal” is coming soon
- ▶ Chinese gaming giants' investments and M&As in Western companies slowed in 2024
- ▶ Blockchain survives the “crypto winter,” boosting blockchain games investments from improved market conditions
- ▶ Incubators and accelerators continue to be a resource for early-stage game studios and emerging technology
- ▶ More countries are using tax incentives and grants to boost their video game industries
- ▶ The eSports winter brought a blizzard of industry change leading to layoffs, divestitures, pivots, and consolidations
- ▶ Blockchain TON-based gaming is rising on social media platform Telegram
- ▶ Apple and Google being forced to allow 3rd Party app stores brings more game storefronts and investments
- ▶ Games’ mainstream success across transmedia brings in investments for proven IPs

Q4 and Annual 2024 Executive Summary

The Transaction Bundle, a complete list of the quarter's transactions in PDF and Excel format, is available for single and annual subscription at www.GamesInvestmentReview.com.

2024 Ends as a Strong Year with $17.5B Across 985 Investments and M&As

To compare 2024 to 2023, it's important to remember that in Q4 2023 Microsoft acquired Activision Blizzard for $68.7B recording the largest gaming M&A in history by over 5.4x its nearest counterpart of Take-Two Interactive's $12.7B acquisition of Zynga. Thus, to properly compare both years, by removing Microsoft's acquisition as an outlier within 2023, 2024 was an improved year totaling $17.5B across 985 in combined investments and M&As (+39% in value and +16% in volume compared to 2023's $12.6B across 848 investments and M&As):

- ▶ 2024 investments totaled $7.7B across 812 investments (+68% in value and +18% in volume over 2023's $4.6B over 691 investments); although investment values are -81% from 2021's $41.4B, volume is bouncing back towards 2022's record highs of 1001 investments
- ▶ 2024 M&As totaled $9.9B across 173 transactions (-87% in value and +10% in volume compared to 2023's $76.8B across 158 transactions); 2024's sharp decrease in M&A value is from Microsoft's colossal $68.7B acquisition of Activision Blizzard (90% of 2023's M&A value) and if removed as an outlier, 2023 M&As would have totaled $8.1B across 157 transactions, resulting in 2024's M&A value to be +22% of 2023
- ▶ 2024 IPOs totaled $3.1B in total market capitalizations across 8 IPOs (+364% in value and -38% in volume compared to 2023's IPOs totaling $660.9M in combined market capitalizations across 13 IPOs); while Shift Up's $2.5B IPO contributed 82% of the combined market capitalization, Poland-based game studios provided 63% of the volume within 2024
- ▶ 2024 Exits (M&As + IPOs) totaled $12.9B across 181 transactions (-83% in value and +6% in volume compared to 2023's $77.4B total across 171 transactions) which is slightly above with pre-pandemic and 2019 levels of $10.1B across 180 transactions
- ▶ 2024 game investments with blockchain and artificial intelligence continued to receive interest as blockchain game investments totaled $1.6B across 282 investments (+9% in value and +24% of the volume compared to 2023's $1.5B across 227 investments); while games with AI technology totaled $469.0M across 95 investments (-42% in value and +16% in volume compared to 2023's $806.9M across 82 investments)
- ▶ 2024 developer investments totaled $4.4B across 580 investments (+84% in value and +25% of volume compared to 2023's $2.4B across 465 investments); investments in game developers represented over 71% of the total yearly investment volume, achieving the highest ever recorded
- ▶ 2024 new fund announcements totaled $58.9B in new capital raised across 132 funds (+25% in value and +7% in volume compared to 2023 totaling $47.2B across 123 funds)
- ▶ In 2024, DDM tracked over 626 new investors and or acquirers across investments and M&As

Q4's $6.0B Across Investments/M&As Was the Largest Quarter in 2024

Q4 2024 achieved the largest quarter in 2024 by combined games investments and M&As totaling $6.0B across 236 transactions (+177% in value and -3% in volume compared to Q3's $2.2B across 243 combined investments and M&As):

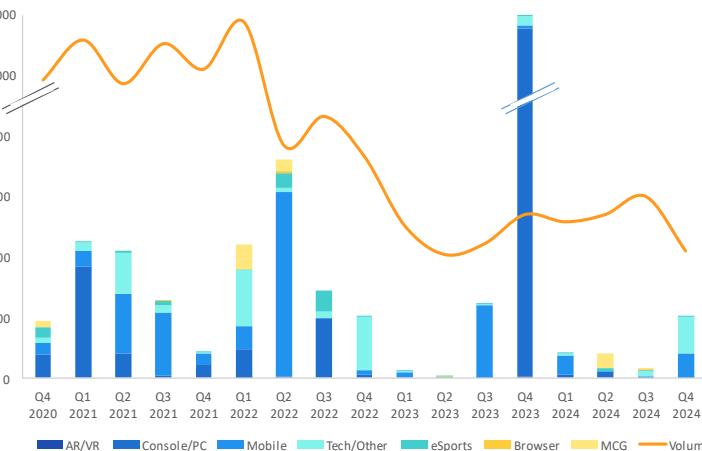

- ▶ Q4 2024 investments saw a sizable decline in value totaling $906.2M across 201 investments (-35% in value and +4% in volume compared to Q3's $1.4B and 193 investments) recording the lowest value since Q3 2018 of $650.6M; investment values were dampened, with early-stage investments representing the majority (66% by value), while volume remained strong as Q4 was +7% above the 2-year quarterly average of 187 investments
- ▶ Q4 2024 M&As saw a large increase in value totaling $5.0B across 35 transactions (+572% in value and -30% in volume compared to Q3's $751.1M across 50 transactions) enabling Q4 to surpass the combined value of Q1-Q3 M&As of $4.8B; this was achieved through EQT Groups and others' $2.7B acquisition of Keywords Studios and Playtika's $2.0B acquisition of Superplay (collectively 94% of the total M&A value)
- ▶ Q4 2024 IPOs had a significant decline in market capitalization totaling $15.9M across 4 IPOs (-99% in value and -25% in volume compared to Q3's $3.0B across 4 IPOs)
- ▶ Q4 2024 new fund announcements assisted by three funds raising $1.0B or more (51% of the capital raised) bringing Q4 to reach $9.8B across 36 funds (-21% in value and +33% in volume compared to Q3 2024's $12.5B across 27 funds)

Some transactions also may be repeated if multiple investors invested in the same round for the company. We list the most active firms by deal volume as well as the total value of the disclosed investments in which they participated and top value for single deal along with select investments. Further, our investment tracking focuses on deals that involve Western companies. As always, since announcements do not typically list the contribution breakdown by firm, we do not include a breakdown of how much is invested by each firm.

- ▶ MMO games developer/publisher Stillfront Group's $227.5M credit facility and a $77.0M bond issuance debt raise

*Transactions listed within Notable Transactions & Announcements is by no means exhaustive!

2025 Outlook

Throughout 2024 game studios continued to pivot their businesses models, slash expenses, and divest non-core offerings making H2 2024 dip in combined investments and M&As totaling $8.1B across 479 transactions (-14% in value and -5% in volume compared to H1's $9.4B across 506 combined investments and M&As). While 2024 game investments and M&As slowed as the year progressed, 2025 is looking to build on a more stable ground:

Investments

- ▶ H2 2024's investments totaled $2.3B across 394 investments (-57% in value and -6% in volume over H1 2024's $5.4B and 418 investments), suggesting that while investors are still investing with steady volume, they are more cautious
- ▶ From our January 2025 Project and Studio Financing Snapshot, studio and game financing will slowly grow in 2025 as many companies end their fiscal year in March, loosening purse strings for 2026/2027 games and strategic investments
- ▶ Top gaming giants and publishers including Hasbro, Krafton, My.Games, Nazara Technologies, and Say Games have all announced cash reserves to invest in games
- ▶ As Artificial intelligence and crypto adoption progresses, increased liquidity will drive fund announcements for investments in games with AI and blockchain technology
- ▶ As geopolitical tensions rise between the United States and China, Chinese companies expanding to the West may opt more for launching their own studios rather than invest in existing ones as NetEase launched its own Bullet Farm and Jackalope Games

Exits (M&A + IPOs)

- ▶ H2 2024 M&As totaled $5.8B across 85 transactions (+43% in value and -3% in volume compared to H1 2024's $4.1B across 88 transactions); although Q4's lack of M&A activity caused H2's volume to decrease marginally, 2025 has already hit the ground running with Miniclip's $1.2B acquisition of Easy Brain, MTG's $820.0M acquisition of Plarium, and Scopely eyeing a megadeal this year
- ▶ In 2024, the games industry suffered mass layoffs, closures, and divestitures where gaming giants such as Embracer Group sold businesses not vital to their core-offering; in 2025 activity will be consistent with 2024 and tight belts will continue with companies like Saga acquiring distressed studios or IPs
- ▶ In 2024 private equity firms snapped up a few large gaming studios including Keywords Studios, Jagex, and Kahoot!; if interest rates decrease, private equity firms will continue to have interest in large gaming M&A deals
- ▶ Since 2023, IPO volume has remained consistent thanks to Poland's supply of small gaming IPOs (13 IPOs since 2023 and 40 since 2020); however, 2025 could bring a slight increase in overall IPO activity as Animoca Brands, AppsFlyer and Inmobi consider going public if conditions become improved

Methodology

In reporting our values, we only include deals where the investment or acquisition officially closes, not simply announced. This methodology has been used consistently with our data for 17 years and it ensures that we are measuring actual activity instead of potential activity.

Additionally, with SPACs we consider the investment value to be what was raised in the transaction, not the company valuation afterward. This is consistent with how we track investment data, where we track the money raised in the transaction and, separately, its effect on the company's overall enterprise value.

The exclusion of announced deals may result in a large difference between our quarterly total and other firms, but our methodology gives a clearer picture of the money deployed in each quarter, providing valuable data consistency for companies evaluating game industry investment and acquisitions.

Digital Development Management maintains and continuously updates the only source of investment, acquisition, and merger data specific to the video game industry that has been gathered and rigorously tracked for over a decade. We focus on Western investments that span development, publishing and technology across PC, console, mobile, browser, mass community (MMO, MOBA, battle royale), eSports and AR/VR games. In short, our focus is fully on the games industry, where other reporting organizations include non-games technology investments and acquisitions by companies such as Apple and Microsoft, which overshadow and obfuscate what is happening in games.
